Share the Gifts – Honour the Treaties is established and run entirely by volunteers interested in moving forward the vision of the organization. There are two types of members:

Members of the Circle

Decision-making members responsible for the ongoing operations and accountability of the organization.

Friends of the Circle

Others participating in the activities of the Circle by becoming a Gifter, hosting a workshop, or building relationships with other Treaty members in your location. We encourage you to share your own ideas about what this role could entail for yourself or your community.

If you are interested in becoming a Member of Share the Gifts – Honour the Treaties, contact us at honourthetreaties@gmail.com.

About Us

Share the Gifts – Honour the Treaties is working to find and facilitate tangible ways for non-Indigenous people and organizations to honour the Treaties made with Indigenous nations in the territories of Turtle Island often called “Canada”. This means our focus is on material reparations, land return, sweat equity, developing and strengthening relationships between Treaty partners, and building on the many educational resources available.

Share the Gifts – Honour the Treaties acknowledges that Treaties with Indigenous peoples have not been honoured, that treaties are the basis of Settler occupation in this territory, and seeks ways to change this.

Our Values

- Justice
- Respect for the Sacredness of Land
- Right Relationships
- Reparations Not Charity
- Responsibility & Accountability
- Empathy & Compassion
- Generosity & Reciprocity
- Abundance
- Liberation
- Self-Determination

Book with Us

We are eager to share what we've learned. Donations towards expenses are appreciated, but we're happy to be flexible according to your resources.

Presentations - 30-45 min

Learn about the Vision and approach of the organization and learn about ways non-Indigenous people can approach reparations with Indigenous peoples.

Workshops - 1-3 hours

Our Education Working Group can provide a tailor-made workshop on topics ranging from: an introduction to Treaty, honouring Treaties as non-Indigenous people, understanding Colonialism, the Doctrine of Discovery and understandings of land Whiteness and/or Settler identity, and approaches to reparations with Indigenous peoples.
